From the LONDON CHRONICLE, of Auguſt 19.

To the KING.

SIR,

THOUGH the ſacred Majeſty of Kings ought not in common Caſes to be approached by every little Buſy-body, or frivolous Remonſtrance-maker; yet when our Prince's Palace is on Fire, and his ſacred Perſon in the Midſt of the Flames, the meaneſt of his Subjects hath the Privilege then to give him warning of his Danger, and to aſſiſt to quench the Fire. This I am afraid, Sir, is at preſent too near our Caſe, or I would not have aſſumed the Boldneſs to diſturb your Repoſe, or have placed myſelf ſo diſadvantageouſly before your Majeſty, as I muſt expect to appear under the Character of a public Cenſor of the Manners of your Miniſters, and a petty State-reformer. But it is not I alone that am thus concerned and buſy for the Public; but the whole Nation are at this Time mournfully reflecting on the miſerable State we are fallen into, from that happy and glorious Proſpect of Things, which we had in the Beginning of your Majeſty's Reign. This hath put all Men upon Enquiry into the Cauſes of the unhappy Change of our Affairs; and I find it agreed on all Hands, that the principal Occaſion of our Misfortunes (or rather Miſmanagements) is from the intruſting thoſe with the Government of all, who are the irreconcileable Enemies to the Conſtitution of the Kingdom.

And yet there are ſome about your Majeſty who (for baſe and private Ends) endeavour to poſſeſs you with the deſtructive Politics of courting and truſting the notorious Enemies of your Family, and would perſuade you, that the Jacobites and Tories are the only Party truly principled for Monarchy; and that, on the contrary, your Majeſty's beſt Friends, whom they call Whigs, though they ſeated your Family on the Throne, are haters of Monarchy, and are of Common-wealth Principles; or at beſt for making their Kings no more than Dukes of Venice, and Kings of Clouts. Now this is a Notion ſo falſe, ſo fatal to the Proſperity of your Affairs, and ſo dangerous to the very Being of your Government, that I cannot but think it highly neceſſary that this Matter ſhould be fairly ſtated, and laid before your Majeſty. I am ſenſible how unfit I am for the Taſk, and how open I lie to a Charge of Preſumption in attempting it. But as the Son of Cyrus, who was from his Birth dumb, broke Silence when he ſaw his Father in the Hands of his Murderers, ſo have I reſolved to break through all Impediments, and to endeavour to reſcue my King out of the Hands of thoſe arbitrary principled Men, who have never failed to ruin all thoſe Kings in this Country who have been guided by them; and who will as undoubtedly bring you and your Affairs into as great Difficulties, if you be not delivered from their Counſels.

And now, Sir, if I may preſume ſo far, will your Majeſty be pleaſed to examine what Honour, what Profit hath accrued to you, or the Nation, by your following implicitly the Inſtructions of thoſe who have all along directed your Cabinet. For GOD's Sake, Sir, caſt up the Account of your whole Reign, and ſee what you have gained by exchanging Whigs for Tories, and your People for a Favourite. Have not your Affairs gone backward both at home and abroad? Have not Miſmanagements been multiplied? Have they not cooled the Affection of your Subjects, and leſſened the Reſpect and Conſideration due to you from foreign States? Do not your Miniſters obſtruct all Buſineſs which ought to be diſpatched, and diſpatch all Buſineſs which ought to be obſtructed? Do they not betray your Subjects, by delaying and deſerting them in their moſt juſt Claims and Pretenſions, whilſt they comply with your Enemies in their moſt unreaſonable Demands? Do they not connive at every Crime, and countenance every Oppreſſion of the People; ſnatching from the Hands of Juſtice thoſe whom the Law hath condemned to Death for Treaſon and for Murder? Would not ſuch Miniſters and Friends as theſe be leſs dangerous to you when profeſſed Enemies, nay, in Arms againſt you in the Field, than in your Council, Cabinet, and Offices? Undoubtedly they would.

But I know the common Anſwer to all theſe Kind of Complaints is, that it is more eaſy to find Faults than Remedies. If you pleaſe, therefore, Sir, we will conſider of Remedies, and I think there may be ſome found out both eaſy and certain; and they are theſe:

Firſt, Sir, be pleaſed to remove from your Perſon, Council, Confidence, and Offices of Truſt, Men bred up, and confirmed in Principles deſtructive to our Engliſh Government, and hateful to your People; and to diſcountenance all State-Projectors and Mountebank-Miniſters, who make Wounds in the State, and pretend Diſorders to recommend their own Quack-medicines, and to preſcribe, as they term it effectually.

Throw out, Sir, theſe Achans to be ſtoned by the People, who will otherwiſe, I fear, prevent GOD's Favour to you; who blaſt your Succeſs abroad, and rob you of the Affections of your Subjects at home, with their accurſed Thing, I mean that Tinſel---Power---with which theſe Miſcreants dazzle the Eyes of Princes, and lead them out of the right Way. GOD is diſpleaſed with it: For uncontroulable and unaccountable Power is the Right and Attribute of GOD alone: And (as the Scripture tells us) He will not give his Glory to another, nor ſuffer thoſe to aſſume as Gods, who are to die like Men. Your People alſo are diſpleaſed with a deſpotic Power; for the Kings of England are bound by Laws, by mutual Compacts, &c. and if theſe are broken, Engliſhmen, who believe themſelves Subjects to the Crown of England (as by Law eſtabliſhed) and not Slaves to any particular Perſon who may chance to wear it; Engliſhmen in ſuch a Caſe become impatient, angry, and at length, perhaps, not to be appeaſed, but with the Puniſhment of their Oppreſſors. And whenever they ſee their Kings beſet with Miniſters of lawleſs Principles (thoſe wholeſale Merchants of arbitrary Power) they grow miſtruſtful and uneaſy, and are apt in ſuch Caſes to ſhut their Purſes, and open their Mouths. And give me Leave to ſay, Sir, that had not the People been made apprehenſive and jealous, by ſeeing thoſe Men in Favour, whoſe miſchievous Methods they were ſo well acquainted with, and did ſo much abhor, had they not ſeen them without Shame, and without Controul, pouring the Wealth of the Nation into their own Pockets; ſo far from murmuring, the People would have been well pleaſed, if inſtead of Half a Million your Miniſters had demanded Two; provided they had conſulted therein your Honour more than their own Gain; and had thereby enabled you to diſcharge not only your own Debts completely, but your Father's too, which indeed by every Law of Honour, Honeſty and Juſtice, are your own, and ought to have taken Place of the Augmentation of the Chief-juſticeſhip in Eyre, and all the other numerous corrupt Sinecures and Penſions.

An Engliſh King is the greateſt Monarch on Earth, when he reigns in the Hearts of his Subjects; and all other Methods to Power and Greatneſs have hitherto been found, and I truſt ſtill will be found, ineffectual in England. I remember I once ſaw written over a Mercer's Shop, 'Keep thy Shop, and thy Shop

* Printed November 1692. Our Correſpondent acknowledges that his Copy is not very correct.

'will keep thee;' and though it be a homely Allusion, it is very applicable to the present Point.---'Keep your Laws, Sir, and 'your Laws will keep you.' Support your People in their Rights and Liberties, and Queen Elizabeth shall pass her Royal Word for them; they will support your just Prerogative at home, and your Honour abroad. And, Sir, by the Way, do not let your Flatterers give you a cheap Opinion of a Power derived from the People, for it is undoubtedly from their Consent alone, that all Power must come; and tho' the free Voice of the Majority of the People may not at present be thought sufficient to appoint their own Representative, there was a Time once when it was found to be sufficient to appoint a King. Nor let this make you uneasy that your Title to the Crown is alone from the same free Choice of the Majority of the People: Revere that sacred Choice, and suffer not your Ministers by Corruption to weaken your own Claim in the Person of another; for believe me, neither any Princess, or Stuart, nor your Ministers, nor all the polluted Lawyers who have spoken, or written, or doubted on this Subject, will ever be able to find you out a better.

In the next Place, discharge all Jacobites and mercenary Trimmers from Offices of Trust, and from Confidence, remembering always the Answer of our warlike and wise Prince King Henry the Fourth, who, upon a Complaint from his People against some of his Ministers, replied, "I know no Evil by these Men; but if they are thought by my People unfit for my Service, I shall not think fit to continue them in it."

But, Sir, Purgatives alone will not perfect the Cure of your Government, and restore it to perfect Health; you must make use of Alteratives too; there must be a Change of Measures, as well as a Discharge of Men: And the Method I would humbly offer is in general this,---that you would be pleased to follow this general Rule, always to be aware of such Ministers, and to avoid such Schemes and Councils as are similar to those employed, and adopted throughout the Reign of every one of the Stuarts, and then you can scarcely err; for whatever is opposite to their Principles and Practices, is the direct Road to your Security and Success. But to be more particular,-----First, make the Interest of England your chief Design and Aim; and since you are born and bred amongst us, and it is to be supposed glory in the Name of Englishman, become entirely an English King. England is a Nation jealous of Rivals in her Prince's Favour, and thinks herself deserving of his Care and his Carefses. If the People of England think you have a favourable Opinion of them, they will deserve it; if not, they may perhaps at last be driven to deserve your worst Opinion too. This Humour of the Nation Queen Elizabeth found early, and applied herself so happily to it, as by this single Point to master all her Difficulties (the greatest it may be that ever Prince had to struggle with) whereas her Successors, the Stuarts, by contrary Measures, brought themselves into very unfortunate Circumstances.

In the next Place, Sir, let me desire you to avoid concerning yourself in Elections of Members of Parliament, or of Influencing them when chosen. The Parliament is a sacred Part of the English Constitution, and like the Israelites Ark of old, is not to be touched prophanely, but with great Danger to those who touch it so; and therefore, Sir, it will be your true Interest to leave the People free to their Choice, and the Members undisturbed in their Seats, and free to their Opinions when chosen. The Practice of corrupting Elections, and the placing and pensioning of Members of Parliament, will always disgust the Nation; and they have Reason to resent it; for this is indeed to make a Pomp of the Parliament, and by pouring in a Pint of Water, to fetch out a Tun. Besides, if, for the Sake of a Vote, a Member of Parliament shall be placed in an Office of Trust he is not fit for, this is destroying the Government two Ways at once; for, to speak in the old Phrase, it is making a Parliament of Clouts, and Officers of Clouts at the same Stroke. It is true, this is not a new Invention, and the Bulk of the People, who are never roused against Evil Measures till they feel their Consequences, confine themselves to Murmurs only as long as the Moderation of the Minister supplies the Place of the Constitution. But whenever a Minister (as rash and ignorant as wicked) shall exert that absolute Power which his Predecessors, though possessed of, cautiously concealed; when he shall totally annihilate our antient Government, by altering the very Form of Election, and by openly sporting with the fundamental Rights of the Subjects, he will by such a Proceeding awake the People from their Dream of Liberty, and open their Eyes to their desperate Situation, he will most justly provoke them to enquire at last into their long-lost Right of equal and true Representation. The Event alone will prove whether the State was ripe for such Destruction, or whether the Minister pulled off the Mask too soon; and accordingly the Struggle will either be succeeded by a new Dawn of Freedom, or a long Night of Slavery close upon us.

Thus, Sir, I have set before your Majesty what in my poor Judgment is for your Interest to pursue, and what is for your Service to avoid; what will make your Majesty and the Nation happy, and what will make both unhappy. And I heartily pray the great, good, and wise God, to direct, bless, and prosper your Majesty, in all your Designs for the Good of these Kingdoms, and the Happiness of your People. If I have used too great a Freedom, or have offended in what I designed for your Service, I am sorry for it. I call God to Witness my Plainness proceeds from my Zeal and Affection to your Interests, and the Prosperity of your Affairs, and not from any factious, saucy, or unmannerly Principle. I wish some abler Pen had taken upon him this Part, but I must own it has provoked me to see my Country and my King so forsaken; the one of Advocates, the other of best Counsel; and this has urged me to take upon me these two Characters of Advocate and Adviser, for both which I confess myself very unfit: Not but that, as I said in the Beginning, I take it to be the Privilege, aye, and the Duty too of every English Subject (provided it be performed with a decent and due Respect) to lay before the King such Matters as may be dangerous to his Person or Government to be concealed from his Knowledge; for we are not tied up in England to Spanish Forms, where the King must be wet to the Skin, if he, whose proper Office it is, be not in the Way to put on his Cloak: And I beg your Majesty to believe that what I have said is from a Faithfulness and Sincerity, which will, in all Accidents and Difficulties, preserve me unalterably

Your Majesty's most loyal,
Most dutiful, and most obedient
SUBJECT.

To the PRINTER of the SALISBURY JOURNAL.

There have been two or three imperfect accounts of the murder of Captain O'Hara, and part of his crew, published, but the following letter from Mr. Robinson, who went out Mate with Captain O'Hara, on board the Merlin tender, to Lieutenant Burr, who came home Captain of her, in the room of the said Captain O'Hara, gives the most circumstantial and authentic of any.

SIR, Merlin Tender, off Cape Blanco, June 15, 1769.

I Beg leave to inform you, that on Saturday the 10th instant, we anchored on the west side of the island of * Arguin; at 8 A. M. sent our boat to sound if there was a channel between Arguin, and the Isle of Obos; at 9 the boat returned, and brought with them three Moors from Arguin, leaving a midshipman and a seaman as hostages: The Moors behaved very well, and appeared to be much pleased, the Captain giving them a number of presents, and they were very desirous of our coming to the east side, (where there is a village, and the remains of a fort) taking great pains to assure us of their friendship for the English; and at 10 sent them on shore, and the boat returned with the hostages. On Sunday the 11th, at 1 P. M. weighed; at 3 came round the south end of Arguin; at 4 anchor'd and moor'd the tender off the village, distant about a quarter of a mile, and perceived Moors in the village, and on the beach, to the number of forty or fifty, making signals to invite us on shore; and at 5 Captain O'Hara, Messrs. Merriatt and Stoakes, midshipmen, and four seamen, went on shore armed, the Captain leaving orders, if the Moors offered any insult, he would fire a musket, as a signal for us to cover their retreat with the swivels from the tender. In about five minutes after they were on shore, I saw our people hoist an English jack on the ruins of the fort; soon after they appeared in great confusion, our people retreating, pursued by a great number of Moors, and made the signal: I lost no time in giving them every assistance the cover of the guns could afford, but were soon overcome by their numbers, tho' not without much loss on their part, we having several of them fall by the hands of our people, particularly by the Captain. In a short time we could perceive all our people laying on the beach, weltering in blood, and to all appearance dead, the Moors cutting and mangling their bodies. We endeavoured all we could to destroy the barbarians, (while perpetrating such an act of inhumanity) with our grape and round shot. In about a quarter of an hour, concluding our people all murdered, and night coming on, the Moors launched their canoes, (as we imagined to board the tender) and only nine in number, we thought it proper to cut our cables, and run out to sea, and have used my utmost endeavours to join you. For every other particular, I beg leave to refer you to the journal and sketch of the coast I have herewith inclosed.

I am, Sir,
Your most obedient Servant,
W. ROBINSON.

LONDON, OCTOBER 20.

IT is said the Lord Chancellor will soon resign, and that Sir John Eardley Wilmot will be appointed in his room; and it is further said, that Sir Fletcher Norton will be made chief justice of the court of Common Pleas.

It is also reported, that the resignation of a certain great officer, is occasioned by his having given his opinion against the legality of the measure respecting Col. Luttrell and Mr. Wilkes.

It was yesterday morning reported, that Sir Jeffery Amherst will be appointed governor of New-York, in the room of Sir Henry Moore, bart. deceased.

The Russian fleet in the Humber, on the 10th instant, we are informed, consisted of 14 sail of the line and 30 transports, on board of which, we hear, there are 6000 troops.

It is now said, that the Russian fleet is to winter at Minorca.

It is asserted, that the report of Sir William Draper having kissed hands, on being appointed to the government of South-Carolina, is without foundation, and various are the conjectures concerning his voyage to America; some say he will be preferred to the government of New-York; while others insist that he is actually appointed governor of South-Carolina: But the m---y intend to keep it a secret, for political reasons, till Sir William arrives there, with his commission in his pocket, which he will produce when he is landed on the continent.

OCTOBER 24. Yesterday some dispatches were received from his Excellency John Moore, Esq; his Majesty's ambassador at Constantinople.

The Dutch, who are always provident for themselves, are said to be negotiating some articles of importance with the Russians, resulting from their late victory over the Turks.

It is talked, that the household of his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales will soon be established.

It is said, that a bill will be brought in next session for laying a duty on the exportation of horses.

OCTOBER 25. Yesterday a court of aldermen was held at Guildhall; but William Beckford, Esq; was not present, to take upon him the office of Lord Mayor; he proposes to be in town on Saturday, and next Tuesday intends to go to Guildhall. The court broke up after sitting a short time.

It is said a court of common council will be held at Guildhall to-morrow, and that the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor intends to take the chair at eleven o'clock.

The above court is said to be called at the desire of some patriotic members of that body, to enquire into the conduct of some officers belonging to the city. Whilst others say, that it is called principally to settle the business customary at this time of the year.

Yesterday there was a very numerous meeting of the supporters of the bill of rights, at the London tavern, Bishopsgate-street, J. Trevanion, Esq; in the chair; when letters received, from divers parts of the country, were read, several subscriptions were paid in, and some new members admitted.

There are now four American governments vacant. The [illegible] dignity, and spirit, to those honourable offices, to give a favourable turn to the affairs of the colonies, no less deranged by mismanagement abroad, than by the undecisiveness of the councils at home.

A report prevails, that William Henry Lyttelton, Esq; his Britannic Majesty's ambassador to the court of Portugal, will soon be recalled, and appointed governor of New-York, in the room of the late Sir Henry Moore, Bart.

A strong memorial is to be presented in the course of this week, upon the business of the insult, as it is called by our neighbours, offered lately in the Downs to the French flag. The French frigate, it is said, is deserted by the officers and crew, and left in Dover harbour as a capture.

A correspondent observes, that if a bill should be brought in, next session of parliament, for limitting the duration of English parliaments to three years, it would not fail of being carried. The anti-courtiers will be strong for it, to oblige their constituents; and the following sentence in the Lord Lieutenant's speech to the Irish parliament, which is always supposed to convey the sentiments of the council on this side the water, may serve to shew, that the courtiers cannot be against such a measure.

"It is with particular satisfaction that, in obedience to his Majesty's commands, I meet the first parliament limited in duration, that ever assembled in this kingdom. I am confident that you are come together with the justest sentiments of duty and affection to our most excellent Sovereign, who has gratified the earnest wishes of his faithful subjects of Ireland with that great improvement of their constitution."

We hear, that the estates of a certain gentleman, who has lately embarked for France, were all sold a few days before his departure.

Yesterday morning two more of the Russian men of war arrived at Spithead, and more are daily expected.

The extract of the letter from Dublin, relating to an altercation between Dr. Lucas and a great personage, is corroborated, in every particular, by several letters which have since been received from Ireland.

BOSTON NOVEMBER 20.

RESOLVES of the Representatives of the Colony of Connecticut, unanimously passed in a full House, in their late Session.

RESOLVED, That in the opinion of this house, the sole right of laying taxes on the inhabitants of this colony, is now and ever hath been constitutionally vested in the General Assembly legally convened, according to the ancient and established practice.

RESOLVED, That in the opinion of this house, it ever was and now is the undoubted right of British American subjects, to petition their Sovereign for the redress of grievances, and that procuring the concurrence of his Majesty's Colonies, in dutiful and loyal addresses to the throne, praying the royal interposition, in favour of the violated Rights of his American subjects; is a justifiable and laudable attempt to secure the Rights and Liberties of the Colonies, on their ancient and constitutional basis.

RESOLVED, That in the opinion of this house, all trials for treasons, misprisons of treasons, or any other crime whatsoever committed and done in any of his Majesty's provinces or colonies in America, by any person or persons residing therein, ought of right to be had and conducted in and before his Majesty's courts held within such province or colony, according to the established laws of the land: And that securing any persons residing in any of said provinces or colonies, suspected of any crime whatever committed therein, and sending them to places beyond sea for trial, is highly derogatory to the Rights of British subjects, and subversive of the principles of the English constitution, as thereby the trial by juries of the vicinity is taken away, and the person or persons accused deprived of the privilege of summoning and producing witnesses on such trial: And that the statute made in the 35th year of King Henry the 8th, entitled, an act for trial of treasons committed out of the King's dominions; by law doth not, and of right ought not, to extend to the British colonies in America.

RESOLVED, That in the opinion of this house, the course of justice hath not been interrupted in this his Majesty's colony of Connecticut; but the inhabitants thereof have ever remained in a due subjection and obedience to the laws of the land; and have ever maintained a most sacred regard and allegiance to the person and family of our most gracious Sovereign King George the III. And all representations tending to create in the minds of his Majesty, or his ministers, any distrust of the duty and loyalty of his American subjects, are high-handed attempts to mislead his Majesty, an affront to his royal person, founded in falshood, and a manifest design to deprive his Majesty's subjects in America of the blessings of the English constitution.

RESOLVED, That in the opinion of this house, the extension of the powers of the courts of admiralty in America, is of most dangerous tendency. The rights, liberties and properties of his Majesty's subjects, being thereby decided by a single judge, whose interest it will ever be to determine against the claimants, and they be for ever deny'd the ancient, safe and constitutional method of trial by juries.

ORDERED, That the Speaker of this house do transmit the said Resolutions to the honourable Peyton Randolph, Esq; Speaker of the honourable House of Burgesses of the Colony of Virginia; with an answer to his letter received in May last; signifying the desire that this house hath, ever to maintain the most friendly correspondence, and their hearty attachment to the common cause of American Liberty, in which the Burgesses of Virginia have so nobly distinguished themselves.

NOVEMBER 27. We hear that the Hon. John Temple, Esq; goes for England in Captain Hall, who will sail in about fourteen days.

Extract of a letter from an eminent Merchant in London, to his correspondent here, dated September 21.

"Its probable the Russians sending a fleet of ships of war up the Mediterranean may bring on a war, you may depend on my sending you the earliest intelligence if our people prepare for it. -----To the disgrace of the great men of this country, who are intent in getting places at the expence of their country, we have faction and party, and of consequence the most infamous falsehoods propagated with the most barefaced impudence; if administration have ability and are firm, I flatter myself, whatever inadvertencies may have happened, peace and unanimity will be restored."

To be SOLD, by Public AUCTION,

On WEDNESDAY the THIRD of JANUARY next, if a fair day, and if not, on the firſt fair day following, at TEN o'clock in the forenoon preciſely, on the ſpot:

THE PLANTATION on CHARLES-TOWN NECK, formerly belonging to George Marſhall, deceaſed, and at preſent unto the ſubſcriber, about three miles diſtant from the ſaid town, containing 150 acres of land (excluſive of marſh) as good in quality, as any in that neighbourhood: bounding northward on land of Sarah Bullard; eaſtward on the high road; ſouthward on land of William Bampfield; and weſtward on Aſhley-River: about one half of which plantation is cleared, and the whole, as well as ſuch parts thereof, as have been cultivated, are incloſed by ditches, near ſix feet wide, and five feet deep, and ſubſtantial fences.

There is a commodious dwelling houſe thereon, containing ſix large rooms, beſides garrets, lathed and plaſtered, with a piazza, to the ſouthward, 64 feet long, and 10 feet wide, and another to the eaſtward, the ſame width, and 44 feet long; which has been lately new ſhingled, and compleatly repaired, and painted; and a kitchen and overſeer's houſe, united under one roof, juſt erected, at a conſiderable expence: alſo a plain, but profitable garden: and the buildings are placed in an airy, pleaſant, and healthy ſituation, on the ſummit of a hill, from whence the proſpect, up and down Aſhley-River, is both agreeable and extenſive.

The advantages to be derived from the employment of a few hands, on the above plantation, to attend and ſupply the Charles-Town market, are obvious; and thoſe advantages may be greatly improved, as there is a landing belonging thereto, adjacent to the houſe, and acceſſible to a boat of 80 barrels; whereby an opportunity will be afforded, to the planter, of a ready communication, by water, with his plantation more remote, and facilitate the conveyance of ſtock, &c. from one, to the other: and alſo another landing, and an eminence, on the ſouth-weſt end of the tract, fronting the river, which, with the particular ſituation of the wood and cleared land, render the above plantation capable of diviſion, into two equal parts.

ALSO,

At the ſame time and place, will be ſold,

THIRTEEN HEAD OF CATTLE, among which are 10 cows, one whereof a remarkable fine one, that has been ſeveral years uſed to the town: a ſtock of ſheep, lately imported from the northward; and hogs: a chaiſe not much the worſe for wear; ſeveral good chair horſes: a ſmall ſprightly riding horſe, ſuitable for a boy of 10 or 12 years of age: a light, handy, new cart; cart-horſes; and a variety of plantation tools and utenſils, that have been little uſed.

The purchaſer or purchaſers of any part of the premiſes, to the amount of 1000l. and upwards, may have one, two, or more years credit, paying intereſt, and giving approved ſecurity, if required: and if under 1000l. yet exceeding 100l. credit will be given to the firſt of March next, paying intereſt, and giving ſecurity, as above: but for all ſums under 100l. or to that amount, the caſh will be required: and until theſe conditions are complied with and fulfilled, the property of nothing is to be altered.

Any perſon inclinable, in the mean time, to purchaſe the whole, or any part of the premiſes, at private ſale; or to leaſe the aforeſaid plantation, for a term, not leſs than three years, under proper reſtrictions, may treat with

VERSES for the New-Year, 1770.

ADDRESSED

To the CUSTOMERS of the SOUTH-CAROLINA GAZETTE, and COUNTRY JOURNAL:

By the PRINTER's BOYS who carry about the ſame.

MONDAY, JANUARY 1, 1770.

WHEN evil Counſellors alone,
Surround our gracious Monarch's Throne;
When foul Rapacity prevails,
And lawful Oppoſition fails;
When Judges ſport with ſacred Laws;
When few eſpouſe their Country's Cauſe;
When Knaves get rich by Peculation,
And baſely plundering the Nation:
It is not mine, in doggrel Rhyme,
To laſh thoſe Vices of the Time;
This Work I leave to higher Spirits,
To Men of more exalted Merits;
Who rais'd above the common Fry
In airy, open Garret high,
Declaim againſt the State below,
And all it's Imperfections ſhew;
Who mourn that Virtue's diſregarded,
Becauſe their Merit's unrewarded.
Howe'er, a Fable I'll unfold,
By Æſop to the Samians told:
A FOX when ſwimming croſs the Tide,
Beyond the Stream a Gooſe eſpied;
The pleaſing Hopes of ſweet Enjoyment,
Detach'd his Eyes from their Employment;
When now approaching near the Edge,
He's faſt entangled by the Sedge,
And all his Efforts to get looſe,
Could not avail to break the Nooſe:
He lay expos'd to Swarms of Flies,
Who ſo annoy'd his Face and Eyes,
That glutted with poor Reynard's Blood,
They ſcarce could fly acroſs the Flood:
A Swallow ſkimming paſt the Place,
Beheld the Fox's doleful Caſe,
Who being a Bird of much good Nature,
Took Pity on the wretched Creature;
And kindly offered him her Aid,
To drive the Gallers from his Head:
The Fox replied, I thank you, Friend,
That you your kind Aſſiſtance lend,
This Swarm that now ſo galls my Hide,
Is fully gorg'd and ſatisfy'd;
Should other hungry Swarms ſucceed,
They'd make poor Reynard ever bleed;
Therefore, good Friend, I think it beſt
To let the full Tormenters reſt.
And thus 'tis better for a State
To make one Set of Villains great,
For when one Knave is driv'n away,
A Thouſand ſtrive to ſnatch the Prey.
